iLoveUGuys School Training

The Standard Response Protocol (SRP) was designed by the “iloveuguy” foundation to standardize how schools, colleges, businesses, and first responders prepare for and respond to an active shooter or other events. This training has made sure that every school and first responder agencies in the county, know what to do in the event there is a hazard at or near a school.

Officer Butterfield began speaking with Lincoln area school superintendents to see if they would be interested in implementing this program. School training began at the beginning of the 2017-2018 school year starting with Lincoln Schools. Training sessions contained videos, handout materials, posters and PowerPoint’s. Chief Deputy Mark Landers also began to assist in training the county schools. All 17 schools in Logan County now are trained and following the SRP protocol.

This protocol is designed by the foundation to be used in schools, colleges, business and churches. The training is nearly the same for every location. Officer Butterfield will be available to business owners and churches to provide them with information and training beginning January 2018.

We are currently training all 23 police, fire and EMS agencies, in the county including the dispatch center and EMA. The new Standard Response Protocol (SRP), formally known as “code blue” books, have been totally revised and standardized and given to all agencies.

Residents and businesses can go to the Foundations website iloveuguy.org for more information.
